The Herald Wins 1st Place Plaque In KPA Contest

The Hazard Herald is among 27 Kentucky weekly newspapers to win first place awards in an annual newspaper-excellence contest sponsored by the Kentucky Press Association.

Lieutenant-Governor Harry Lee Waterfield presented Herald publisher W. P. Nolan with an engraved first-place plaque in the Freedom of Information category of the contest at ceremonies at Cumberland Falls State Park Friday night.

The first place award earned for The Herald four points toward an overall point accumulation that placed The Herald in a tie for second in the sweepstakes award, given to the best all-around newspaper in the state.

Winner of the sweepstakes award this year was the Cincinnati Democrat. The Herald tied with the McLean County News for the runner-up position.

Other awards brought home by The Herald that helped them toward their second-place sweepstakes tie included second place certificates for best front page, best editorial page, and best newspaper promotion campaign; third place certificates for best society page, and best news story, and honorable mention certificate for general editorial excellence.

This is not the first year The Herald has stood high with the KPA at awards time. In 1960 and 1962 The Herald won the sweepstakes award, and over the years has accumulated ten plaques and 32 certificates of merit from the state newspaper organization.

A grant of $42,480 to the Kentucky Department of Child Welfare's Day Care Project at Buckhorn has been approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Children's Bureau, Congressman Carl Perkins announced today in a telegram to The Hazard Herald.

The grant is to be administered through the Kentucky Department of Child Welfare in Frankfort.

In April of this year, there were twenty Perry County preschool children enrolled in the project. The classes, which include drawing, coloring, finger painting, etc., are held at the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency. ARA To Survey Eastern Kentucky For Possible Industrial Sites

A long-standing lack of information on acceptable industrial sites for use by the sites in the mountainous Appalachian area of Eastern Kentucky will soon be corrected as a result of a survey to be financed by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The Department's Area Development Administration, in announcing the project today, said lack of accurate data listing possible locations for industrial facilities has long been considered a major obstacle to the economic growth of the hard-hit Cumberland Plateau area.

ARA's nine-month survey will make available a catalog of industrial sites for use by the State and local industrial development groups and site-seeking industries. The study will be financed under the ARA technical assistance program and is expected to cost around $50,000. Included in the counties to be surveyed are Bell, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Knox, Letcher, Leslie, Martin, Perry and Pike.

Technical assistance is one part of the ARA program to help economically-distressed areas overcome the problems of unemployment and underemployment.

Tigers Edge Dodgers 12-11

William Turner and Larry Johnson hit homers but their Dodger club bowed to Lyle Shoemaker's Tigers 12-11 last Friday at Collins Field. Billy Craft and Johnny Cox led the Tiger attack. Craft went three for three while Cox collected two hits. The sixth and final week of the night spring meeting of the Lexington Trots comes to an end on Saturday, June 13th with a full program of nine races featuring the three leading drivers of the season, Frank Ervin, John Alden Young, and Freddie Bach. Track general manager Walter S. Gibbons has predicted that all of the attendance and mutual handle records of the 30-night session will be shattered on the final two nights. At the moment of writing it appears that the total attendance mark will be well over 80,000 while the mutuels are certain to reach $1,800,000, far surpassing anything of the past. Registering better than 36% attendance gain and a 60% increase in mutual handle augurs well for the track future and management plans an earlier and longer meeting for 1965. With 17 Kentucky stables represented at the track this year, an effort will be made to secure even more next year with the accent on the home-bred Standardbreds.

E. T. Kash Speaks on Freedom At Kiwanis Meeting, Tuesday, June 2

The Ninth Division Lieutenant Governor, E. T. Kash, of Beattyville, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of Kiwanis Tuesday evening, in the VFW Club. His subject was "Freedom". He also made an inspection and appraisal of club records, programs, etc. for 1964, including praise and some constructive criticism.

"In 1964, Kiwanis has re-declared itself to Freedom for the Future Generations", said the speaker, "and since we know from our knowledge of psychology and psychiatry that our adolescents have problems, so does the changing world."

"The deception and selfishness in an oligarchy are not so dangerous as apathy in a democracy", he said. "The rights of an individual must not be replaced by the whims of a demagogue."

"We can continue freedom for our future by sponsoring Key Clubs and other youth work, also good programs by our Civic Clubs. Kiwanians should be active workers in our projects and in securing of outside programs, not meek observers but active participants."

At a special board meeting, future programs were discussed and committees appointed. The annual picnic this year will be July 14, in Bobby Davis Park.

Charles Davis, firing for the U. S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit (USAMTU), captured five individual matches in Tuesday's (May 26) first round of the U. S. Army-Air Force "Carrot" Match at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Davis of Hazard, topped first place in the Slow Fire Match from 200 yards with 100-8v out of a possible 100-20v, the rapid fire event from 300 yards with a 100-9v out of a possible 100-20v, and the Slow Fire Aggregate Match with a 200-22v out of a possible 200-40v.

Davis Captures Marksmanship Training Honors

He also took top honors in the rapid fire aggregate for a 200-16v out of a possible 200-20v total and the individual grand aggregate with a 400-38v out of a possible 400-80v.

Another USAMTU shooter, Raymond Calvez of (1047 Farewell Dr.) Columbus, Ga., came out on top in the Rapid Fire Match from 200 yards by posting a score of 100-13v out of a possible 100-20v.

The Air Force claimed first place in the 600-yard Slow Fire Match with a score of 100-16v out of a possible 100-20v.

Wednesday (May 27) will see the Army and Air Force competing in team events with the loser receiving the "Carrot."

During the past four years the "Carrot" has been presented to the losing squad of the match. The Marksmanship Training Unit currently has the "Carrot" hanging in its headquarters at Fort Benning.

Local Students Among Graduates At Eastern State College June 3

"Never settle for your limitations, for the sky is the limit," a record class of 636 graduates was told Wednesday morning at the 57th spring commencement of Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, 1964 clergyman of the year and minister of the Marble Collegiate Church, New York City, addressing an audience of 6,500 in Alumni Coliseum, said "a man's size is not measured by the length of his legs, but by the height of his mind. There is a giant in you," the graduates were told.

The class bested the previous record of 555 graduates who received degrees at exercises last spring. Another class will be graduated in August.

The commencement speaker was awarded the honorary doctor of letters degree by President Robert R. Martin, Carl Perkins, member of the House of Representatives, Seventh Congressional District of Kentucky, received the honorary doctor of laws degree.

Speaking on the subject, "Don't Settle for Your Limitations," Dr. Peale said, "Most of us are living on about one-fifth of the potential capacities and abilities that God has built into us."

"We accept our self-imposed limitations," he stated. "We say we can go no further, but this is a blasphemy. God has created you for a colossal life."

Today man has lost a vision of himself. He feels frustrations because of his fears and hates. He is a victim of guilt and sin.

"In the great days of America, people respected themselves," Dr. Peale said. "Even the constitution of the United States was predicated upon the immortality of the soul."

"We have developed a brand of human beings who are soft and fat. We need to return to the rugged man. Certainly the world is full of trouble, but the world is full of overcoming trouble. You must realize how strong you are and that you can be even stronger."

A positive thinker is a man, the noted clergyman said.

Receiving Master of Arts degrees were Bill E. Back, Lothair; Linda Robinson Bellamy, and Lee Ray Smith, Hazard; Marybelle Duff, Hardburly, and Preston H. Hall, Jr., Delphia.

Awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees were John B. Francis, Tilford; David Jones, Jr., Bulan; Kenneth C. Jones, Jeff; Fredrick E. Stidham, and Shirley J. Whitaker, both of Hazard.

In Kentucky... at a picnic, beer is a natural

When you're relaxing at your favorite outdoor beauty spot with friends or family, and your thirst whetted by fresh air and exercise—that's the ideal time for a cool, refreshing glass of beer. In fact, you can name your recreation—swimming, hiking, or just watching TV—and chances are nothing in the world fits it quite as well as beer.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Bids Opened On Airport Projects

Bids are being opened this month on five new airport projects in Kentucky that will cost more than $500,000. Aeronautics Commissioner Philip Swift announced today. He said the State is contributing $142,584 to the projects, representing allocations made during the past 12 months.

The projects include construction of new airports at West Liberty, Mt. Sterling, and Whitesburg. A new "pavement" will be constructed at the Morehead airport and the Mayfield airstrip will be repaved. The three new airports will raise the total constructed with State help in the last four years to 23.

The State has now tentatively allocated $40,000 for airport construction at Russellville, which is now purchasing land, and $25,000 to Dawson Springs, depending upon efforts of local people to raise matching funds, Swift said.

The Jamestown-Russell Springs airport is nearing completion, Swift added. Local funds totaling $17,500 paid for the land, engineering and turfing. The same amount was contributed by the State for grading and draining.
